

Angel Ibarra CV

Ángel Ibarra Sánchez has worked for around 40 years on different aspects related to technology issues of fusion as a source of energy, with special emphasis on those aspects related to materials and their response to radiation and promoting the construction of a fusion-like neutron source. For more than 15 years he has led the Fusion Technology Division at CIEMAT, he has been responsible for the Spanish participation in the IFMIF/EVEDA project, he was the European coordinator of the Fusion Neutron Source Work Package (WPENS) for more than 9 years and from 2021 to 2025 he has been the Director of the IFMIF-DONES Spain Consortium.

He has published more than 275 papers and 400 conference communications on topics related to fusion technology and has been and is a member of various national and international committees.