

Silvia Bruzzi is Associate Professor of Management at the University of Genoa (Italy), Department of Economics (2012 to date). She has been Associate Professor of Management at the University of Salerno, Faculty of Pharmacy (2006-2012), and Researcher of Management at the University of Pavia, Faculty of Economics (1998-2006).

Her research focuses on science-driven and knowledge-intensive sectors (e.g., big science, energy, health), investigating how scientific, institutional, and entrepreneurial innovation can interact to shape ecosystems fostering socio-economic development in the European Union. She is Vice-President of the European University Studies Association, Italy (AUSE-ECSA Italy) and Member of the Board of Regents of the Bank of Italy - Genoa Branch (Italy).